Description

NANOSMAT 2025 - International Conference on Surfaces, Coatings and NanoStructured Materials

The 16th International Conference on Surfaces, Coatings, and Nanostructured Materials will take place in Naples, Italy, from July 6th to July 10th, 2025.

NANOSMAT stands as a well-established and revered name in the realm of Nanoscience and Nanotechnology conferences.

The onference series has consistently provided an exceptional platform for the discussion of pivotal topics in the field of materials-related Nanoscience and Nanotechnology.

In the 16th edition, the organizers anticipate an enriching and intellectually stimulating event that will bring together experts, researchers, and enthusiasts from around the world. It is planned to explore the latest advancements, sharing groundbreaking insights, and forging collaborative connections. NANOSMAT conferences have consistently attracted a diverse and talented international community, fostering the exchange of groundbreaking ideas, the sharing of cutting-edge knowledge, and the dissemination of technical expertise in the expansive realms of nanoscience and nanotechnology.
