2nd International Conference on Turbomachinery Manufacturing - ICTM

In practical lectures experts from both, industry and research, will present and discuss current market developments, new product concepts and challenges of manufacturing technologies. The focus of the two-day conference is on the latest trends in laser and machining technology as well as on measurement technology and CAx. As a particular application of these technologies, their integration into a continuous repair process chain for turbine components will be demonstrated. During a tour of the facilities at Fraunhofer IPT and ILT, we will provide the opportunity to discuss current R&D projects and results with the experts.
