

Nanoforum

Veranstaltung - Nanoforum

Titel	Nanoforum
Wann	Mi, 16. Juni 2010 - Do, 17. Juni 2010

Beschreibung

Nanoforum, Turin

Nanoforum reaches its sixth edition this year and it wants to confirm itself as the first-rate meeting-point for research centres and enterprises working for innovation through micro and nanotechnology. By promoting the promising aspects of the new science of atoms, Nanoforum wants to foster the process of technological transfer from the research world to the entrepreneurial one.

TO IMPROVE YOUR BUSINESS

Controlling matter at atomic scale makes micro and nanotechnology a research field which contributes to innovation of both industrial products and processes. Recent estimate forecasts that the global market for nanotechnology will be worth $2 trillion by 2015. Nanoforum will give you the opportunity to keep up with the times: tutorials will provide you a simple overview of micro and nanotechnology research and its importance for business; a two-day session conference will show you the most advanced results in the field. Packaging, materials, coatings, nano-medicine, agro-food, energy, construction, defense, safety are some of the application areas you could know joining nanoforum. See the master-plan available on our web-site.

TO SHOW YOUR RESULTS

Nanoforum wants to give to the best researches in micro and nanotechnology the right opportunity to be known. By communicating solutions during the two-day conference and by realizing posters and exhibition stands, Italian and foreign research centres, companies, science parks and universities will show their projects for innovation to the interested companies and potential partners.

TO MEET VALUABLE PEOPLE TO WORK WITH

Nanoforum is where research and business meet. One-to-one meetings and net-working will improve contacts among participants: if companies have a research department, they will find the right answers to their needs by questioning the experts in the field; on the contrary, if companies do not have a research department, they will be able to understand “what” and “with whom” to do nanotechnology. Company Directors, Research&Development Managers and Advisors, Research Strategists and Marketing Managers, Scientists, talented Students and Researchers, Science Parks and Universities Representatives will find an important occasion to know and to meet.

TO JOIN US

The event will take place in Cittadella Politecnica, of Politecnico di Torino, Corso Castelfidardo, 30/A

It is not far from to the FS railway station of Porta Susa, Turin

Thanks to our Partner and Sponsor, the entrance is free of charge for all visitors.

A Guide-Catalogue of the event will be distributed to all attendees.

The registration form is available at www.nanoforum.it/registration

You can contact us at nanoforum@iter